Regulatory Compliance Course for Telcos/Celcos

This Regulatory Compliance course is a 2-day course. It is a compulsory programme designed for all licensees and users of the C&M industry to attend. The course covers the regulatory provisions of the CMA such as the Technical Regulations, Economic Regulations, Social and Consumer protection.

Course Description

The spread of advanced technology and new market trend towards increased liberalization and privatization have led to new opening in the C&M markets but have also resulted in increased regulatory intervention. It is also an industry where accepted practices are changing rapidly. This course is specially designed to cater for the needs of technical and non-technical executives who need a first hand knowledge on regulatory compliance. This course hopes to deliver the essential technical foundations needed to support modern C&M management while bringing participants up to speed with latest thinking in economics, law and policy making. The course is divided into 2 parts. In Part A, the participant will be introduced to the business skills of SKMM and the Part B will deal with the regulatory provisions and practices. See the course programmes for details as shown below.

Learning objectives

After the training the participants will successfully learn the current SKMM businesses and the regulatory compliance of the C&M industry.

Suitable for

Executives who have basic interest in the regulatory compliance of the C&M industry.
